PERSONAL STATEMENT

Having the privilege of volunteering at Florida Occupational Healthcare has impacted my life far beyond just earning my observation hours. In the words of the owner of the clinic, "Therapy is 20% didactic and 80% experience." These words have resonated with me as I have attained so much knowledge under the tutelage of the head Physical Therapist. As I continue to volunteer at the clinic, I have had the opportunity to implement this knowledge into helping patients restore functionality. As someone who used to struggle with anxiety, I have had difficulties in the past speaking in front of large amounts of people, and accepting mistakes; however, through my experience at the clinic I have gained the self-confidence to communicate effectively with others and view any mistakes as learning opportunities that will aid in my development as a future Physical Therapist. This boost in confidence and morale is also attributed in large part to the difference I have been able to make in my patient's lives, day in and day out, by stretching them out, assisting in their exercises, and providing manual therapy to any areas that are causing them pain.

The sense of fulfillment I feel when a patient tells me that they are feeling better is unparalleled, as I know there is no greater calling on earth than helping others. My anxieties and worries seem to dissipate whenever I am working with patients at the clinic. Essentially, through healing others I have also healed myself, which is the best form of therapy I could ask for. One patient in particular that has made a lasting impact on my life is a child who suffered a neurological injury which affected his ability to walk with a normal gait. In spite of this impairment, he exudes such happiness and positivity that is only matched by his perseverance to improve. It is patients like this that have made, and will continue to make, my experience at Florida Occupational Healthcare such a special one. My perceptions of the Physical Therapy field changed drastically when I began volunteering at Florida Occupational Healthcare. The Physical Therapist I shadow, Peter, works from six o'clock in the morning to eight-thirty at night; however, in spite of these long hours he always remains energetic and excited to assist others. His commitment and passion for his profession solidified the notion that I want to pursue a career, such as Physical Therapy, that doesn't feel like work, but rather something I love to do. When I'm at the clinic, I'm never looking at the clock counting down the minutes to when I leave, as I genuinely love being in an environment filled with positive energy and optimism.

PERSONAL STATEMENT

These interactions with patients at the clinic have shaped my outlook on life by allowing me to learn what resilience in the face of adversity is, and how something as simple as walking is a luxury taken for granted by so many people. Being that my mother is a nurse, she always spoke about the importance of helping others and how there is always a need for good healthcare providers that show compassion and interest in their patient's lives. This has become evident to me throughout my time at the clinic, as I have realized that there is nothing more precious in this world than life itself. Having the opportunity to work in a field that allows me to optimize quality of life for others, is the best job I could envision for myself. Ultimately, working at this clinic has been the most meaningful experience of my life and has taught me so much about what I want for my future.

Statement of Purpose

My passion for helping others in conjunction with my intrigue for physical movement has played a significant role in my decision to pursue physical therapy as a prospective career choice. One of the benefits of pursuing a career in physical therapy is the cultivation of deep and meaningful relationships with patients. The level of attention and care that physical therapists are able to offer their patients is seldom seen within other healthcare professions. Being that my mother is a nurse, she has always spoken about the importance of healthcare providers showing a genuine interest in their patient's recovery and well-being, as it emphasizes a patient-centric approach to physical recovery. During my time shadowing at Doral Physical Therapy and Florida Occupational Healthcare, I had the privilege of being around a diverse group of patients who exuded optimism and positivity that was only matched by their perseverance to recover. Having the opportunity to help restore functionality to these patients' lives was one of the most fulfilling experiences of my life, as it taught me to appreciate the little things, such as being able to walk, or engage in my favorite physical activities.

The University of St. Augustine is a paragon of academic excellence, as it emphasizes the notion of developing future physical therapists by instilling in them critical thinking skills, professionalism, and integrity. The student-centered approach that the DPT program at the University of St. Augustine implements in its curriculum is a major factor in my decision to apply there. This approach ensures a unique learning experience that fosters the development of the skills needed to be a physical therapist, as students receive personalized attention throughout the program. Also, having the opportunity to learn from faculty that are current practitioners would allow me to gain valuable insight that will aid in my development as a future therapist. The physical therapy field is rapidly transitioning towards more evidence-based practice and research, which is why learning from current practitioners will help solidify my understanding of current trends in the industry. Another contributing factor in my decision is the notion of being able to work alongside other health care students, such as occupational therapists, as it encourages a sense of camaraderie and teamwork that will be essential to success as a physical therapist.

In conclusion, the University of St. Augustine is committed to developing top-tier physical therapists that are determined to maximize the quality of life for their patients. It would be an honor to attend this university in pursuit of my Doctorate degree, as I feel it will equip me with all the tools necessary to succeed as a physical therapist. Considering the notion that USAHS emphasizes hands-on experience, I will be better prepared to accommodate the needs of a diverse patient population.

RECOMMENDATION CONCERNING ADMISSION

I highly recommend this applicant

To Whom it May Concern,

Augusto Incer completed observation hours under my supervision at Doral Physical Therapy, which is an outpatient orthopedic clinic. I am pleased to be able to provide a letter recommending him for a position as a physical therapy student.

During his time at Doral Physical Therapy, Augusto demonstrated qualities which I believe would translate to a successful physical therapy student and eventually a practicing physical therapist. Augusto exhibited great compassion with our patients, efficient communication skills and maturity. He was well liked by coworkers and patients. This was evident by the feedback received from patients regarding his kindness, work ethic, and professionalism. Augusto performed all of his tasks without difficulty and he was always willing to take on more responsibility. He worked well with others and was always punctual and dependable.

I believe Augusto will be a tremendous asset to your program and I recommend him to you without reservation. If you have any further questions with regard to his time as a volunteer at Doral Physical Therapy, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Kind Regards,

To whom it may concern:

It is with pleasure that I write this letter of recommendation for Augusto Incer. I have known Augusto since fall of 2017, when he attended Florida International University, at which I taught him the Human Anatomy course, in addition to a Human Anatomy lab (ZOO3731 and ZOO3731L).

“Enthusiastic” and “Dependable” are two words that describe Augusto and his study ethics. While he was taking these two courses with me, Augusto always demonstrated interest in the subject. He would always come to my office hours to discuss critical thinking questions that would arise while he was studying on his own. This definitely reflected on his grade. Augusto achieved one of the highest grades of the class. This was due to his hard work and his efforts to go far and beyond in trying to understand human anatomy. Augusto was also the student that his peers could count on to come prepared to class and get the work done. This tells a lot about his integrity and maturity, as human anatomy is perceived by most as one of the hardest courses in undergraduate and graduate school.

In spring 2018, Augusto joined my group of Learning Assistants (LAs). LAs responsibilities included coming up with class activities for the current Human Anatomy students. These activities ranged from critical thinking questions, to actual hands-on activities. Augusto was a very active participant of planning these activities. I could not have imagined a successful semester without his help. Augusto will continue to help me as an LA during this fall semester.

Augusto is an enthusiastic, positive and very intelligent young man who conveys the importance of being the best at everything he does. He is also a great colleague; this is demonstrated by how he makes everyone that is around him feel comfortable to be themselves. He not only is an inspiration around his peers as an LA role, but he is also very positive with the other LAs, which turn to him for advice and reassurance.

In conclusion, I definitely recommend Augusto be accepted to your physical therapy program. He has the potential to be a leader in his future career.

I would be more than happy to discuss any further questions you may have regarding Augusto Incer.

Sincerely,

Dr. Lisa Brinn

Senior Instructor
